

Activity 2

Name of the activity	EcoTalk Showdown
Topic Covered	Reflections on effective communication for green practices
Learning Outcomes and Competences that can be acquired	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Reflect on personal development in understanding green communication.</li> <li>• Applying the key principles of effective green communication through practical challenges.</li> </ul>
Duration	45-60 minutes
Kind of Method	Communication game/challenge
Required Materials	Small buzzer or bell (you can use an alarm on your mobile phone). Flipchart or blackboard. Marker.
Learning Setting and Activity Description	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Divide the participants into two teams.</li> <li>2. Explain that each team will take it in turns to participate in the "EcoTalk Showdown" There will be 3 rounds.</li> <li>3. Round 1: In this round, participants have 5 minutes to communicate as many green issues as possible to their team members. They should use simple concepts. The end of each round will be signalled with the buzzer.</li> <li>4. Round 2: In this round, participants act out a green practice without using words and their team members have to guess what it is. Alternate participants for each round.</li> <li>5. Round 3: In this round, participants draw a green concept or practice on the flipchart or board and their team members have to guess what it is. Signal the end of each drawing with the buzzer.</li> <li>6. The team that has guessed the most practices wins.</li> </ol>

Activity Evaluation/ Reflection	This activity introduces a playful and competitive element to the learning process, making it more interesting and memorable for participants while reinforcing the principles of effective green communication. Conduct a final reflection on how participants applied and improved their understanding of effective communication for green practices during the EcoTalk Showdown. Encourage participants to share their insights from the challenges and talk about how they might apply these strategies in real-life situations.
------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

